PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Kevin continues to be amongst the top commercial brokers in the Northwest Suburban Market by deal volume. His clients appreciate the fact that he does deals of all sizes, and through doing business that way, he is expanding the network of businesses he works with on a daily basis. A former high school teacher and coach in the area for 12 years, Kevin joined Premier Commercial Realty in 2015 and has not looked back at the public sector since. Kevin's people skills and mind for making a deal have proven to help hundreds of business owners in the area---from leasing to buying and selling. Amongst those he works with, Kevin has a reputation for being timely, diligent, and honest. His prompt and professional approach is appreciated by clients and the fact that he will outwork other agents is what truly sets him apart.

Kevin works with all different commercial property types, whether it be investment, industrial, retail, office, or land. His experiences in all of these types help him have a good grasp on the economy and the current market. He works well with either side of a deal...buying or selling, landlord or tenant.
